the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1.2 million (Office for National Statistics 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop services to meet the needs of older people, and the need to ensure that the health care system is able to meet the needs of older people. The Department of Health (1999) has identified the need to develop services to meet the needs of older people, and the need to ensure that the health care system is able to meet the needs of older people.

Brains Work!

Are they geniuses? Well maybe not, but they are definitely smart. These students don't represent just the top of Calumet's students; they're at the top of the nation.

This year the National Honor Society at Calumet inducted nineteen new members. These students proved that they aren't only smart, but also display outstanding leadership qualities.

The Honor Society

awarded scholarships to six seniors. The money for the scholarships was raised through a number of fundraisers. Their biggest fundraising project was the recycling campaign. This was started one year ago by Rae Torres. Congratulations to all members of the Honor Society. Also, thanks to those who have shown their concern for our earth.

Pushers at CHS!

PUSH (Prevention Using Student Help) teaches about the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse at an early age. Training for PUSH, was held on December 7 and 8, 1991. Until February 15, 1992, the PUSH'ers prepared presentations for the four area elementary schools. In March, they were able to begin their presentations. The grade school kids had a great time.

Leaders

Business Professionals of America is a national organization with chapters in 16 states. Their aim is to prepare students to work effectively in a variety of business situations. The Business Professionals members at CHS raised money through the sales of Christmas kits and Valentine's balloons. They competed in regional, state, and national contests.

The officers this year were Kim Kasarda, President, Cherise Garcia, Vice President, Denise Rubalcava, Treasurer, and Rachel Loomis, Secretary.

Preparing for the Future

V.I.C.A. (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) is the vocational equivalent of Business Professionals. Students compete in areas such as carpentry, photography, culinary arts, health occupations, and various electronics areas. The club's motto is "Preparing for Leadership in the World of Work". This year's officers were President Jamy Belcher, Vice-President Chad Whiteside, Treasurer Jennifer Brown, and Secretary Ann Marie Laskarin.

STRAIT is one of the most active clubs at CHS. Every year, they are responsible for a variety of anti-drug abuse campaigns. This year was their busiest so far.

They participated in Red Ribbon Week for yet another year. They sponsored Calumet's first Operation Snowflake. Snowflake is set-up to help junior high students achieve a high level of understanding about drugs, alcohol, self-esteem, various kinds of abuse and much more. In November, they invited the rap group, MC Scoop and the Wallflowers, to perform for the school. By far, the most memorable and impressive thing that STRAIT sponsored was the first annual CHS Talent Show. In spite of a big misunderstanding, the show went well and people had a good time.

Working Hard

"Next year's Student Council members will be..." You vote for them, but have you ever wondered what they do? Student Council is made up of representatives from each class. Council members are responsible for spirit weeks and the basketball sectionals pep rally.

They also strive to improve our school and community. Each year they participate in National Education Week. For the past couple of years, they have sponsored Calumet Clean-up Day. All students are invited to help clean the schoolgrounds, plant flowers, rake leaves, etc. The Student Council's biggest campaign is the annual blood drive. This year they passed their goal number of blood units donated. Thanks to everyone for being so generous and concerned.

Scary Traditions

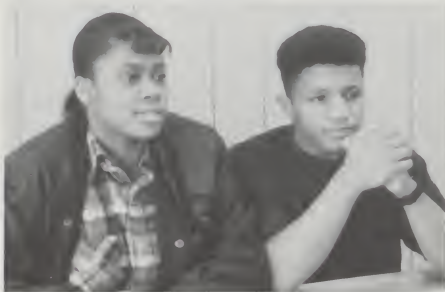

Daniel Harris carries out his Halloween tradition by dressing as Michael Myers. Mike Ellis portrays one of his favorite stars from Kiss. Ron Reid shows how strange he can be by dressing as an oatmeal head. Tasha Phillips shows her Halloween spirit by dressing as a conductor.

For the past four years Daniel Harris has shown his spooky Halloween spirit by dressing as Micheal Meyers of Halloween fame. He walks the hallways and the sidewalk surrounding CHS scaring all unsuspecting victims. Daniel commented on this tradition, "Everyone loves it! Also, Michael is the star of my favorite movie: Halloween."

Soon others began joining Daniel in all the fun and excitement by dressing up and showing off their Halloween spirit. Students dressed as different things, including rock stars, cartoon characters, and, of course, the traditional witches and monsters.

Telling Stories

The school newspaper is a self-supporting publication that is dedicated to inform the student body and faculty of events in the school and around the area. Occasionally, the newspaper will write articles about controversial issues around the world, or in our own neck of the woods. Probably the most startling news story to break during the 1991-1992 school year was the announcement by Magic Johnson, NBA player, of his HIV (AIDS related) infection.

Students enrolled in journalism are responsible for coming up with their own topics to write about, and are equally responsible to meet deadlines. Unfortunately, the staff has to prod some of the reporters to get work in on time — or just to do the work.

Also a part of journalism is Ch. S. The Journalism II students are responsible for producing the daily announcements. The announcements are then aired via the Ch. One television sets in every classroom.

Remember?

Twenty or thirty years from now, will you remember who your ninth grade gym teacher was? Or what your eleventh grade girlfriend looked like? Or even who won homecoming your senior year? Probably not. But, thanks to the yearbook staff you won't have to. You can just pick up your yearbook and memories will come flooding back.

The staff spends an unbelievable amount of time creating memories for you. They attend almost every assembly, sporting event, and extra-curricular activity at Calumet. They cover everything from graduation to field trips to football practice. They work hard all year to produce a yearbook this school can be proud of. This year some of the staff spent an extra week and a half in school during the summer, just so the yearbook could be ready for pick-up at the beginning of next year. These are hard-working students, and they should be proud of their creation.

Se Habla Espanol?

Spanish Club had a very busy year. First, they held a Christmas Fiesta for the Calumet staff. They served a wide array of Mexican food including tamales, tostadas, fajitas, etc. They also provided great entertainment. Juan Toledo greeted the guests with trumpet music and then joined other students in singing Spanish Christmas carols.

Later in the year, they took a trip to the Art Institute and "Little Mexico" in Chicago. Students learned about art and culture on their trip.

The Spanish Club also invited the Mexican Folklórico Ballet from East Chicago to perform for the Spanish, French, and Honor Society members. Una funcion estupenda!

The officers for Spanish club this year were Elaine Hernandez (President), Esmeralda Serrano (Vice-President), and Rosie Escobedo (Secretary).

French students are happy to get away from school lunches.

Tabitha Fanning and Heather Conner goof off in French class.

La Langue d'Amour

French students are dedicated to their study of the language, but they still need a break from the books every so often. This year, they were able to eat a real French lunch at Bon Appetit in Crown Point.

They were greeted by the owner, Louie, and his wife, who both speak French as well as English. The students were able to practice speaking French (they need a lot more practice). They all enjoyed their lunch. Merci, Louie!

The French club also raised money through candy sales. This money helps those students going to France pay for their trip. BON VOYAGE!

Winners!

Expected! Unexpected! They had the highest A's and the lowest E's but these were not their grades. They were their scales, and the band could reach them all.

This year the band traveled down to Orlando, Florida for the All-American Music Festival. And talk about "unexpected", they took home the first place trophy. But first of all they needed money. The band sponsored the annual Turnabout dance, as well as tagging, fundraisers at Wiseway and Burger

King, and a great chile dinner. Their hard work paid off and brought about an improvement in not only their performance, but also their image.

Other than the trip to Florida, the band students kept themselves busy during the rest of the school year. They held their winter and spring concerts, had marching band contests, and usually stayed after school rehearsing. All their hard work paid off and the school is proud. WAY TO GO EVERYONE!!

Stay Tuned

Not everybody is born with a golden voice. Fortunately, the Calumet chorus was. The chorus is divided into two classes, each with their own officers. For the fifth hour class the officers were Kim Craven (Secretary), Lynn Salinas (Vice-President), and Chad Modglin (President). For sixth hour they were Darcy Schaafsma (Librarian), Denise Rubalcava (Secretary), and Anisa Rubalcava (President).

The chorus members did a great job entertaining the audience at their Christmas and spring concerts, but the question is can any of them hit Mariah Carey's high note?

C-Teens Show Support!

This year the C-Teens continued to show their support for the people of our community. During October, they dressed in costumes and delivered Halloween treats to the children in the Head Start program. They passed out food baskets to needy families in our community at Thanksgiving and Christmas. They also went back to give Head Start kids treats with balloons on Valentine's Day. This year's C-Teens officers are President Kristy VonOgden and Vice-President Cindy Mose.

Warriorettes Rock!

The Warriorettes are the girls we see perform during halftime and at pep rallies. But we only see the finished product. These girls put a lot of work into their dances. They spend countless hours after school and at camps putting together new routines and practicing them to make sure they're ready to perform.

This year the Warriorettes competed in the ISSMA competition. They showed off with their routines to "KLF" and "Egyptian Lover", and they brought home two second place awards. Keep up the good work, girls!

Homework!

True teens: Eating while doing homework.

Terry Washington, how do you expect to get any work done that way?

Do the chapter review for history, read 20 pages of a book for English, finish 30 math problems, add to that 3 hours of football practice. Homework! We all had it, we all hated it, and half of us just didn't do it. Why so much homework?

Sometimes extra curricular activities meant putting homework aside and suffering the consequences. Most teachers say that extra curricular activities are the student's choice, and if they can't get their homework in, they must face the outcome.

Most students agree that homework is necessary, but many teachers go overboard with it. A lot of students copied homework and that's not right, but it worked, so they kept doing it. Some students tried to make it through the year without doing any homework. The majority of them didn't make it. Some even tried to brown-nose their way through a class. Let me tell you, it doesn't work. Whether we like it or not we are going to have to live with homework.

Blast to the Past

nce upon a fine spring day, Ms.Green and her first hour class set off on a great journey. They traveled the countryside in search of adventure. They found it at Medieval Times. They dined and made merry as they watched an authentic jousting tournament. As they commanded the wenches to bring their food, they were fascinated by the unforgettable spectacle. They cheered for the knight representing their kingdom which was symbolized by the color of their crowns. They left the great kingdom knowing their knight had won the tournament.

Mounted on racing stallions, at Medieval Times, knights charge at each other in full gallop.

More than just food

The lunch room: a place for food, gossip, planning the weekend, and occasionally an entertaining little quarrel. It's also a time to see friends, talk about the way you slept the hour before, or steal fries from the person next to you. It's something soft and gooey. But most of all the lunch room was a place to be for 15 minutes to get food with your friends and not worry about school. Most days all you knew

These students enjoy free pizza and pop, thanks to Lee Mobley.

Frank Padilla has a hardy appetite.

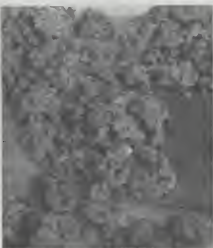

Food in review

The chefs of Mrs. Weakland's cooking class had a food-filled year. From stir-fry to apple pie, they baked, broiled, fried and boiled many different types of food. The students didn't seem to mind, but why should they when they get to eat all the things they cook? Every day the students and faculty would walk past the cooking room and be struck by the aromas of the various foods being concocted.

For a few people, like Aimie Eriks and Charles Worthman, cooking is one of their favorite classes. They like Mrs. Weakland and love the food.

There were 99 students who took Foods this year, can you imagine how much mashed potatoes they made?

Our Helpers

Teachers are an important part of our learning. Many students take for granted how much teachers help us in the learning process. Students often find themselves needing the assistance of their teachers even at home. Teachers give us work they feel we are capable of completing.

Seniors are expected to know more information than the rest of the students, but need the same help as other high school students, just in different topics. The teachers who teach seniors try their best to prepare them for the competitive world. Without our teachers' help we would be in a world of trouble.

Christine Miller tries to concentrate as she completes her assignments.

"Computers are not that hard," states Rae Torres pointing out instructions to Anjanette Rodriguez.

Kelly Frey looks at her paper searching for a way to correct any mistakes.

Fashions, Trends, Hangouts, and Friends

Your locker jams, you've lost your homework, and you're late for school again, but no big deal! You're too busy worrying about what to wear when you meet your friends at the movies. All well in the average student's life. When the bell of freedom rings at 2:00, a long awaited mad rush is made for the new and exciting outside world. Going to hangouts, seeing your friends, and spotting new trends are all part of the outside world. Fashions, trends, daily hangouts and happenings, and friends are the essentials that add the lively spark to a student's life.

Fashion. The one word that gets everyone talking. What's in, what's out, where to buy things. Fashion is a way of expressing your personality. When someone is in fashion, she should feel really good about herself. Then, on the other hand, if someone wears something that her friends laugh at, it can change the way she acts and feels. Everyone has her own style of fashion, but all-in-all, everybody's doing the same thing: trying to express herself through fashion.

Trends are the all around favorite. The thing that everyone is doing, but most of all, trends are the major thing that everyone agrees on. Some trends stay and some speed by. Some even come back a decade or two later.

To many students, going somewhere with thier friends or doing something out of the ordinary is part of their everday life. Meeting friends, scoping out hangouts, and having fun are the elements in daily events. These daily events are what make a student's life terrific.

Have you ever wanted to call your friends, hop in a car, and go to your favorite hangout? A definition of a hangout would have to be a place to get together and just have a terrific time. A hangout is usually close to your home; someplace that all of your friends could go. It could be at the movies, a football game, the mall, or even an arcade.

Friends are the most important thing in a student's life. They are people that other people can rely on, they can be trusted with a secret, and they are there when needed. They help out in a moment of need. Friends are the people that one will spend most of their time with.

Basically, when you put it all together, fashion, trends, daily events, hangouts, and friends are the fundamentals that bond student life together.

Those Who Inspire

During every student's high school years there is at least one teacher that a student feels has helped him. There is one teacher who pushes us to our limit, shows us just what we are made of, and what we are capable of doing if given a chance. These teachers really care about our education regardless of what we think. We see them as giving too much homework and not enough free time. But, all in all, they do this for us and our future.

Seniors Kim Millspaugh and Robbie Olsen agreed that Mrs. Sadja has helped them because she is understanding. "She speaks in such a way that you understand, other teachers use big words most students do not know."

Kelly Frey, also a senior, said, "Ms. Green is someone I can talk to if I have a problem. She has been my coach and we really get along."

Junior Rashi Lofton said "Mrs. Walters has really influenced me. She is a very organized teacher, prepares one for college and I like her as a person." Junior, Tabitha Fanning told me, "Two teachers have helped me. Mrs. Korellis because she is an understanding person when you have a problem.

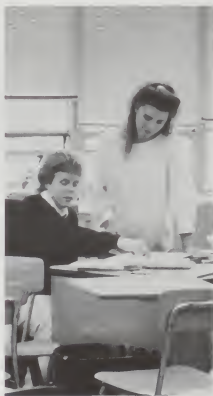

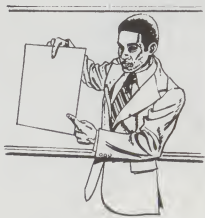

She is like a friend and Mr. Traicoff has inspired me because he is funny, demanding, and puts my mind to the test. He makes sure we know that we are not as smart as we think we are. We leave his class feeling a little smarter than we were when we started."

Clarisa Cuevas stated that Mr. Tsangaris has influenced her because he is a good teacher and makes learning fun.

Well there you have it, teachers are more than people who just give you work to do, they are people who care.

Ms. Green points out the problem to Kelly Bewley.

In Memory

Last year, on May 24, 1991, the friends and family of Leelanne Gamble gathered to mourn her death. This was truly a sad, somber time. She died at the young age of fifteen. This was indeed a shock to her parents. Our compassion and sympathy go out to all who knew her.

We, however, need to remember Leelanne in life, not in death. It's true that she wasn't perfect, and she had her share of disagreements with her classmates. In spite of this, she had loyal friends who continue to care for her. They took the time to look past her faults and see her good side. Chico Perez remembers how Leelanne taught him that what others think doesn't matter, but what he thinks about himself is what's important. April Metz comments, "She had this personality that you just couldn't stay mad at. She was my best friend when I truly felt I had no one." Rachel Macek and Amy Haynes agree that Leelanne was one of their closest friends, and she was there when they needed her. May Leelanne's memory live on in the hearts of those who love her.

GOODBYE

Life is so unfair to give us all this grief

I'd like to say I've known you forever but the time was all too brief

The plain fact is I still can't believe it's real.

I wish I could see you now to tell you how I feel

There are all these things I would say, things I would do,

Mainly I'd say, "Farewell my friend, I'm going to miss you!"

DECISION MAKERS

Throughout the school year our school board meets to decide what is best for our school. Many times this year the student body found something to disagree with which the school board thought would be better for the improvement in our school.

Mr. Bunda's fourth hour class invited two school board members in to talk about the controversy of bringing dogs into the school to search for drugs. At that time, students were allowed to voice their opinion on this topic and be heard by the deciding forces in the Lake Ridge School System.

Superintendent, Mr. Nick Julius, extends congratulatory comments to senior Gary Boesel upon receiving his diploma.

WHAT A WEEK!

"I will always cherish and remember being crowned Homecoming Queen. God Bless" Tracy Swindle

"It was nice to be recognized and put in the spotlight. Thanks to all the people that voted for me." Frank Padilla

As Homecoming week began, what was once only walls holding up lockers changed into a place of red and white.

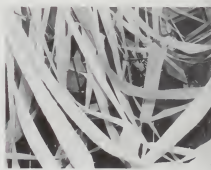

The week started off with spirit dress-up days. Monday was college sweatshirt day; Tuesday was PJ day; Wednesday was career day; Thursday was class color day; and on Friday everyone showed their spirit by wearing red and white.

Messages such as "Go Warriors" and "Crunch those Trojans" were scribbled on posters which decked the halls with spirit. Students from each grade volunteered to help decorate their own halls in the battle of school spirit. The halls were judged on Friday morning; the winner was the junior class. That wasn't the only battle of school spirit going on. The students all week were working on their floats by planning flower stuffing parties. Besides preparing for all these traditional activities, a few students celebrated by T-P'ing their classmates' houses. Although the freshmen were involved with other activities, their float came out the winner! Seniors finished second, ruining their three year winning streak.

The upsetting thing was that the powder puff football game was cancelled due to lack of participation. The Warriors played the Highland Trojans and lost 31-6. At half time, Tracy Swindle was crowned Homecoming Queen and, later at the dance, Frank Padilla was crowned Homecoming King. Congratulations to all the winners.

Coach Bunda's room was decorated appropriately for the homecoming game.

The freshmen proudly ride on top of their award-winning float.

The juniors work hard putting the finishing touches on their winning hall.

Christina Akers seems to enjoy cleaning up after the school T-P-ing night.

"Don't live your life to impress your friends or the world, live your life to impress the one who really loves you."
Rosie Soils

"I was surprised to get nominated for Homecoming King and I would like to thank everyone who voted for me, even though I didn't get the crown."
Mike Smith

"For my entire senior year, I have pondered over the question, What's the meaning of life? in Mrs. McCray's Humanities class. I still do not know the answer to this question!"
Stephanie Cheek

"I really didn't care if I got the crown or not, because I had more important things on my mind, but I want to thank everyone who voted for me. Thanks!" Eddie Fowler

"I just want to say stay in school because times like these make it worth it!" "Shay P" Shan-non Marie Peterson

THE COURT

T U R N A B O U T

The annual Turnabout Dance was held December 7, 1991. The C.H.S. students and their dates started gathering in the foyer at 7:00 p.m. This year's theme was "Somewhere Out There." Cookies and punch were served for the students who wanted a snack during the evening. Decorations filled the foyer to set the mood of romance. The students danced the night away with one of C.H.S.'s own classmate's, senior Joe Calhoun, and the AMERISTAR D.J. SERVICE. Joe commented, "Being a D.J. at my own school dance was exciting but a little scary." The dance was sponsored by the band boosters.

Matt Simmons, Schawan Turman, her date, Tina Cox, Mrs. Breit and Amy Zamora are enjoying some refreshments!

Seniors Cindy Mose and Jamy Belcher experience a romantic dance.

Juniors Cryelda Sanchez and Chris Hayes dance.

Let's clean up!

Mrs. Korellis and the student council didn't have Saturday school. No, they were here that wonderful Saturday morning cleaning up the area and planting flowers. It was the second year for the beautification project sponsored by the student council. It certainly is a project that needs support from ALL! Thanks SC!

SCIENCE OLYMPIAD

Calumet and twenty-six other local schools were invited to attend the Science Olympiad held at Purdue Calumet. Twelve C.H.S. students competed in many science events. Senior James Westbrooks placed first in computer programming. In orienteering senior James Stevens placed second. Senior Brian Benton and junior Chuck Nelson received third place for circuit lab. Other events that the C.H.S. students competed in, but placed below third, were the following: Circuit lab, pentathlon, anatomical questions, quantitative analysis, road rally, write it do it, bridge building and measurement.

Team members: Kim Hinshaw, Benjie James, Brian Hodal, James Stevens, Jon Swindle, Jessle Garcia, Stacy Rohr, Brian Benton, Chuck Nelson, Cindy Mose, Craig Dodson, Alice Newman.

Jon Swindle studies how to determine elements in a mixture.

Jamie Westbrooks receives a gold medal for his performance in computer programming.

Prom, the dressiest, most important dance of the year, was held on May 2, '92 at Wick-er Park Social Center. The theme, "When I'm With You," was appropriate for this night. Angie Combs and Danny Mata were crowned Queen and King, respectively.

Teacher of the Year

Mrs. Walters enjoys teaching her class

Mrs. Walters is showing Henry Jones what to look for.

Mrs. Walters, who teaches sophomore and junior English, was the proud recipient of this year's Teacher of the Year award. Mrs. Walters has been teaching at Calumet for six years and has always cared for her students and their problems. She is a teacher who cares if you learn. If you don't understand something, then she is willing to go to the fullest extent to help you. Congratulations Mrs. Walters on doing a job so well.

Mrs Walters answers a question that LaTosha Ford has on the worksheet. The Teacher of the Year shows the importance of giving blood!

Lending A Helping Vein

Thanks again to the Student Council! It happened again: fainting fears, eating all those delicious snacks, and drinking all the juice and pop we could. It's all part of the CHS annual blood drive that took place on March 18, 1992 in the wrestling room. Calumet students who contributed blood — and fears — felt it was worth donating a pint of blood to save the lives of others.

"But I already had my ears pierced," says Daney Ferguson

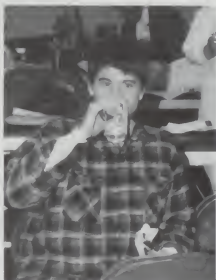

"I thought they said it doesn't hurt," commented James Stevens

"Ahh, who cares? Just mark it A positive," Kindyada Hawthorne and Anjanette Rodriguez comment.

Joy Catizone waits patiently while the nurse removes the I.V.

Matt Griffith says, "Umm that sure tastes good."

Talent Everywhere!

On Thursday, April 30, 1992 a talent show was conducted in the auditorium. This was the perfect chance for C.H.S. students to show off their abilities — and many people took advantage of the opportunity. The acts ranged from rap, heavy metal, gospel music, dance to comedy. Tony Dilosa had the fun job of the show by walking out in zany costumes after each act and introducing them. There was something for everyone to enjoy at the first talent show held by S.T.R.A.I.T.

Seniors Honored

It starts with the first day of school. Everyone can feel it in the air. You bet. The seniors feel like everyone should give them special privileges. You know the attitude: "What!?! Homework during Homecoming Week?????" "The class rankings are final now, so why do I have to do anything??" "Where're all the special events for the seniors?"

Well, they had to be patient to get to the 'special events,' but it paid off. As the school year draws to an end, the seniors are given a senior breakfast, senior banquet, and the senior olympics, before the biggest ceremony of them all: GRADUATION.

top: During the senior breakfast, Robert Wilson shares a laugh with Robbie Olsen and Kim Millspaugh. below, right: Scott Taylor and classmates scan the doughnuts looking for just the right combination, at the start of the senior breakfast. below: Come on boys, did you leave enough for anyone else?

Every year seniors anticipate the end of all their hard work, wanting desperately to be "outta here!" They feel the closeness of graduation day as they are called from class to pick up their caps and gowns. The excitement builds when they are notified of the senior class picture. You can see it in all their faces: confusion and happiness. What will they do next? Whatever the choices, everyone wishes the seniors good luck and Congratulations!

above: Come on Frank Padilla, only one gown per senior! left: When will they take this picture????? below: Line up shortest to tallest, Ms. McCray said. But does that mean before or after we put on our caps?

No more school, no more books, . . .

and, as the saying goes, "No more teachers' dirty looks!" As the senior class of 1992 sat in the gymnasium, listening to speeches by their peers, they no doubt thought of the past twelve to thirteen years with a smile on their faces. Probably thoughts of hardships, good times, and boredom ran through their minds..

Many anticipate the four years ahead of them as they have chosen the path of further education. Others are just relieved to be out! Whatever the feelings, these seniors must be willing to work hard.

Serving Aces

Once again the boys' tennis team witnessed one of its young players gain fame. Sophomore sensation Jacob Williams did what he does best: WIN! Jacob enjoyed the season of highs — especially when he reached the ultimate goal — he competed in the state tournament! Unfortunately, his season came to an abrupt stop in the first match of the state competition. His future looks bright as he will continue his trek to the finals of the state competition.

Gaining experience

The JV won the first two games of the season, then struggled because some players played JV and varsity. They weren't too surprised with how the season went, although the freshman team was undefeated the year before.

With some of the better players on JV also playing varsity, they had to watch the number of quarters each played. Coach Keehn liked coaching the JV. He feels that they had a young team and thinks that they will be a lot more competitive next year.

A Season of Sweat and Tears

Our football team would have liked to have had a better season. We know they tried their best and no one is perfect. Coach Bunda was happy that he could play some of the younger players. His team played hard and did not give up. The one disappointment was the Warrior record.

The Warriors had some really good players. There were many young players that had talent, like Chucky Podkul and Tyrie Buchanan. Also playing a major role for the Warriors were Eddie Fowler, Frank Padilla, and Chris Warren. The team's attitude was really positive and they gave it their best.

Dig the New Beginning

The varsity volleyball team went 4-16 this season. They started off fresh with a new coach and new faces on the varsity squad. They started out good in the Hobart Tourney going 2-2.

The team gave it their all and had fun on the court. This year's team was young and worked hard. Practices were hard, since the coach made the team run "six lines" all the time when they slacked off. The team gave it their best and worked hard.

Awards were given to Michelle Regalado for best setter, Adrienne Padilla got the most blocks, Kelly Bewley was top hitter, and Rosie Solis received the Mental Attitude award. Kelly Bewley also received the Most Valuable Player award. The team looks to be better next year since they're only losing seniors, Kristy VonOgden, Beryl Jenkins, Rosie Solis.

forth. It was a big year for learning, but with the coaching of Carrie Reid, the team got down to the basic fundamentals.

Now what to do????

Time spent at school will vary from person to person. There are the people who come to school, stay just for the day and wouldn't be caught dead around the school after the last bell rings at 2:00. There are also the people who will stay after school for maybe an hour and get extra help from teachers, or stay and type in the computer lab. People that have to stay after for an extra 55 minutes are the people that somehow get in trouble, or don't make it to class on time and get an after school detention.

Not just students spend extra time at school. Some of the teachers, coaches, and counselors will stay after school and try to do things that they don't have time to do during the six hour school day. We also have the athletes who will stay after school for about two to two and one half hour almost everyday for practice. If they aren't practicing, they will be at a game, or will be active with something involved with school. They spend a lot of their free time here. Also, the coaches spend so much time at school, some don't make it home until six o'clock at night on days they practice, and even later on game days. So, for some people, when that last bell rings to signal the end of the school day, they're just in the middle of theirs.

The 1992 baseball season saw many ups and downs. One of the highlights of the season was the early defeat of Lake Suburban Conference powerhouse Crown Point, 2-1. Adam Fulton and Gary Boesel proved to be the strong forces whenever they were on the mound.

The Warriors saw a strong start come to an abrupt end as they started the season at 6-1 and then lost the next eight in a row. The Warriors then pulled together as they won five of their next ten.

Going into sectional action, the Warriors were looking forward to playing Griffith, especially after splitting the two contests during the regular season. Unfortunately, the Warriors came out flat and lost to the Panthers 0-8.

Fore!

The 1992 golf team saw some good days, and some bad days. Probably the most disappointing loss to the team was when Dean Botts broke his leg and was out for part of the season. However, with permission from the state, he was able to ride in a cart so he could compete in the sectional.

Friendships are Forever

Friendships come and go throughout our school years. Trust, honesty and reliability are three major characteristics people look for in friends. Friends are special people who are almost like family. You share each other's clothes, money, love and even get into trouble together. You spend most of your high school years with your friends, through good times and bad and stick with them no matter what. Friendships are very important to the growing process; using friends to learn values, to share ideas, etc. Good friends will always be there.

— Kim Millspaugh

Rae Torres, Stacy Rohr, James Stevens, Doug Richardson and Eddie Folwer discuss what they will do next.

Denise Grant and Carolyn Terpstra express their friendship in a strange way.

Marlo Puritt and Schwan Turman show that they are close friends.

Sorry Danny Mata, Scott Taylor, and Chucky Petersen, but we're looking for the guys with muscles!

Ththththat's all folks!
